Recap of the 2005 Convention

The 2005 Convention is history and a pleasant memory at that. We had a "great week together" was the affirmation of many who shared their evaluation of the Convention, as the week drew to a close.

Our speaking leaders—Roy Lawson, Gary Snavelly and Allan Dunbar—did a great job each session. The five workshops were very practical and contained great suggestions for application in our congregations and lives. The singing at the Convention was very uplifting and was marked with wonderful variety. Our Youth and Children's programs were a great success, as well. It is important to have good people working in these two areas (and we did).

Add to these fine marks for the Convention an increase in registrations (up over 1000) for the first time in a few years. Our offerings totaled around $22,000—including some $6,000+ for debt retirement. The weather was "Oregon perfect" for the whole week.

At nearly every point I give this past Convention "high marks." I am looking forward to being in Turner at the end of June, 2006.
